Perris

- The old Santa Fe Depot, built in 1902, houses the Perris Valley Historical Museum operated by the Perris Valley Historical and Museum Association. The museum contains many historical collections, including artifacts that once belonged to Fred T. Perris, California Southern Railroad Chief Engineer and Superintendent of construction in the 1880s, who laid out and gave his name to the city of Perris.
- A classic example of High Victorian style, the Perris Depot was placed on the National Register of Historic Places on August 8, 1994.
